Statistics show nearly 90-percent of people fail the required exam to become an employee of the U.S Postal Service. But that doesn't mean job seekers should mail in their dream to wear the grey and dark blue uniforms.

PostalJobsExam.com provides a comprehensive program to help anyone pass the USPS 473e Exam. In fact, this course is now being offered for the low price of $47 for a limited time. Why do so many Postal Service employee candidates fail this test? "It is due to a lack of preparation," say company leaders. "The good news is our program provides easy to follow exam test taking strategies and tips from subject matter experts."

Applicants looking to become city mail carriers, rural mail carrier associates, mail handlers, sales associates, processing clerks or distribution associates must pass this test. The most challenging part of this exam is the memory test. "Our eBook Study Guide contains several memorization exercises that can be repeatedly used at any time to help improve anyone's memory skills," say PostalJobsExam.com officials. "We are always updating our material in an effort to stay current with the latest USPS exams."

Potential Postal Service employees will have unlimited access and use of four timed practice examines that simulate real tests. They will also have an eBook Study Guide that's available online, through print, or download, as well as Postal Form Resource Links and quizzes to track performances. "Memory tips and exercises, a job locator to search employment listings in a specific area, and job alerts to receive new local job listings make up the rest of the program," say company executives. "All this is available 24/7 in your own Student Dashboard."
